

Criteria for Evaluating Ability Using a Rubric Table

(2023.6.19 revised)

Scoring Criteria		Functional Aspects	Structural Aspects
		①Task Achievement	②Fluency	③Discourse Structure	④Vocabulary	⑤Grammar	⑥Pronunciation
5		Regarding the task, I can manage it by myself, so I scarcely require assistance from others.	I speak smoothly, and there are no issues with communication fluency that hinder me.	The speech is well-organized, coherent, and very easy to comprehend.	Vocabulary and expressions enhancing communication are used skillfully.	Grammar for effective communication is being used skillfully.	There is no difficulty or unnaturalness in pronunciation and intonation during communication.
4		Regarding the task, I can handle most of it on my own, but I do require some assistance from others to a certain extent.	Occasionally, I might stumble over my words, but there are rarely any issues with communication fluency that lead to difficulties.	The speech is well-organized, coherent, and easily understandable.	Vocabulary and expressions for enhancing communication are mostly used skillfully.	Grammar for facilitating communication is largely being used effectively.	There is not much difficulty or unnaturalness in pronunciation and intonation during communication.
3		Regarding the task, I can somewhat manage it on my own, but I do require a substantial amount of assistance from others.	I occasionally stumble over my words, but I am still able to communicate.	While the speech lacks complete organization and coherence, it generally conveys understandable information.	There are occasional issues with vocabulary and expressions for enhancing communication.	There are occasional issues with the grammar required for effective communication.	Occasionally, there are difficulties or unnaturalness in pronunciation and intonation when communicating.
2		Regarding the task, handling it on my own is challenging due to insufficient response. I require a significant amount of help from others.	My speech is frequently interrupted, and communication does not flow smoothly.	The speech lacks some organization and coherence at times.	There are frequent issues with vocabulary and expressions for advancing communication.	There are frequent issues with the grammar necessary for advancing communication.	Frequently, there are issues with the difficulty or unnaturalness of pronunciation and intonation when advancing communication.
1		Regarding the task, it is quite challenging to accomplish, and I struggle to respond adequately. Even with considerable assistance from others, managing it on my own is nearly impossible.	My speech is often interrupted, causing disruptions in the flow of communication.	The speech often lacks organization and coherence, making it difficult to follow.	There are many issues with vocabulary and expressions, which hinders smooth communication.	There are numerous grammar issues that hinder the smooth progress of communication.	There are many issues with pronunciation and intonation, which hinder the progress of communication.